FEBRUARY 7, 2010

The Preachers are Coming, the Preachers are Coming!

It is with anticipation that we can welcome our annual missionary co-op preachers. As you may know each parish each year is asked to host guest preachers who come to us to share their missionary experience(s) with us. This is an opportunity to be reminded first how blessed we really are even in a challenging economy. The second grace is that it reminds us all of the intrinsic missionary nature of the Church and our own individual call to evangelize especially in this Year of Evangelization. This year we are blessed to welcome two LaSalette Fathers to our parish. The LaSalette Fathers serve in India, Angola of Western Africa, Madagascar, Argentina and Brazil. Fr. Cliff Hasler is at the Catholic University in DC assisting at Washington Theological Union in formation work and Fr. Meme, a native African is studying at Loyola College in Baltimore. They will be here next weekend February 13th-14th and will preach at all the masses. Please help them by prayer and any support you can give.

Fr. Jack Gleason of Tulsa, Oklahoma (I can hear the jokes now!) will arrive at our parish to preach our Lenten Mission entitled Taking the Journey of Discipleship: Reflections from Luke's Gospel. Fr. Gleason is a Pastor at the Church of the Madalene in Tulsa and was formerly Vocation Director. He has given retreats and mission in and outside of his diocese. I am blessed to consider him a dear friend and look forward to sharing him with you and you with him.

Lent is around the corner which means spring and Easter are too! It is a good time to start to make some plan about our prayer, fasting and almsgiving. A full schedule of offerings will be available to help you do that. Small stones, inscribed with a virtue or a goal for our Lenten journey, will be available at all Ash Wednesday Masses. Thanks go out to our Liturgy Committee for all their good planning to make our Lent a fruitful one.

Thanks to all who helped make our Bake and Buy Superbowl Bake Sale such a success. This too will help send our missionaries to our orphans in the Dominican Republic.

Blessings in Christ!

Fr. Taillon
